HOT HAT-TRICK OF EVENTS FILLS THE CARR CENTER

Detroit, MI -- Upstairs, downstairs and all around the building, the Arts League of Michigan's Virgil H. Carr Cultural Arts Center will be a busy place the night of Friday, October 2, as the Carr Center continues its popular series of events, 'Hot Nights in Paradise' with three activities.

The evening begins at 5:30 p.m. when Carr Center Resident Artists and Instructors 'bare their creative souls' to guests through their Artists Speak, small-group conversations while showing off some of their favorite pieces. They'll give everyone a magnified view into the creative instincts, skills and passions that make an artist, and that make the art.

From there guests can grab a partner, and head for the dance floor upstairs and get ready to move to the rhythms with 'The Dancing Queen,' Paulette Brockington, for a hot night of hot dancing-Salsa! Salsa! Salsa! It's a class, so nobody has to be perfect-just ready to have a good time and it only costs $10.

Guests can wind down the evening by spicing things up a bit as they come back to the lower level and take in the 'Variety: The Spice Of Art' exhibition in the Main Gallery. It features more works by Carr Center Resident Artists and, as the name suggests, the exhibit covers a broad spectrum of art subjects and techniques for real variety.
